EDMONTON SCHOOL CHILDREN TABULATED BY MEDICAL MAN

Kiddies Generally Are in a Pretty Good State of Health—Only Four Percent Are Poor.

MEDICAL REPORT MADE

Results of Dr. Biggar's Inspection of The Schools Is At Last Made Public.

Figures that tell the story of the medical examination of the pupils of the Public and High schools of the city:

- 2,103 Children examined.
- Each child weighed and measured.
- Examination of general health.
- Examination of eyes, ears, nose, throat, skin and teeth.
- In poor health, 34.0 per cent.
- Defects of eyes, 11.1 per cent.
- Defects of nose, 1.1 per cent.
- Defects of nose and throat, 12.65 per cent.
- Defects of throat, 10.3 per cent.
- Defects of ears, 1.1 per cent.
- Defects of teeth, 8.2 per cent.
- Skin diseases, 4.0 per cent.
- Defective mentality, 9 cases.
- 178 Cases of vermin in the hair.
- Schools generally found clean and well looked after.
- Bad lighting and poor black-boards in McKay Avenue school.
- One or two schools poorly ventilated.

The following is the report prepared by Dr. J. Biggar last spring on health of the school children of Edmonton. Although it was finished last July, the school board has just handed it out to the public.

Pursuant to your instructions I have made an inspection of the pupils in the Public and High schools in the city. In all 2,103 children were examined.

The inspection comprised the weighing and measuring of each child, an estimation of his general health, and the examination of vision, nose, throat, ears, skin and teeth.

The general health of the pupils is, in my estimation, very good. The record-card of each pupil was marked with a letter to indicate the grade in this respect. A indicates very good; B, fair; C, poor; and D, very poor. The percentage of those in classes C and D combined is only 3.4, and many of those in class B are suffering from some remediable condition whose correction would I think place them into class A.

The following list comprises the defective conditions noted and the numbers of those suffering therefrom: Classes C and D (obviously below par): 234. 23.4 per cent. Defects of eyes, 234. 11.1 per cent. Defects of nose, 23. 1.1 per cent. Defects of nose and throat, 287. 13.65 per cent. All nose and throat defects combined, 517. 24.5 per cent. Defects of ears, 23. 1.1 per cent. Defects of teeth, 173. 8.2 per cent. Skin diseases, 84. 4.0 per cent. In addition to these there were noted 9 cases of defective mentality, apparently independent of any physical defect; and 178 cases of vermin in the hair.

to this particular work, should be answered in the negative, being considered, so far as I see, of instituting a full medical examination of every child for the following reasons:

1. In this city we have not to deal with such conditions as obtain in the older and larger centres, where there are large settlements of the very poor to whom medical attention is a luxury to be sought only as a last resort.

2. No full examination, however thorough, could enable the inspector to prophesy the occurrence of a specific infection at a future date.

3. The inspection could be simplified and its value enhanced in several ways. In the first place the necessity of examining for vermin should not in my opinion devolve upon the medical inspector, as the junior heads and approximately 20 per cent of the children were found to be verminous.

4. No full examination, however thorough, could enable the inspector to prophesy the occurrence of a specific infection at a future date.

It Will Be Some Time Before City Will Use It, Says—Ald. Mould.

FLOW IS NOT STEADY YET

Local Men Visited Morinville Yesterday—Oil Borings Are Progressing Well.

"I think it will be considerable time yet before Edmonton will be using natural gas," said Ald. Mould, who accompanied a party of several local men to Morinville, yesterday, to the Capital this morning. "The California-Alberta company gave quite a show to the city, but the flow of gas out of the flame does not last. If you stay and watch it, it dies out in a few hours."

The oil boring is progressing favorably according to Ald. Mould. The Williams plant has reached a level of 3,007 feet below the surface and have struck a layer of rock. When a casing is put down, and a flow of gas is obtained, the boring will be continued until good results are expected.

Final Scene in the Crippen Case Was Brought to a Close Today

When His Companion in the Flight Across the Ocean Was Acquitted of All Complicity in the Murder of Belle Elmore—Defense Did Not Put in Any Evidence.

(Canadian Associated Press Cable)

London, Oct. 25.—Ethel Clare Leneve was acquitted by a jury this afternoon of all complicity in the murder of Belle Elmore.

The trial only occupied one day, the defense not calling any witnesses. The judge summing up occupied about half an hour, and a crowded court listened eagerly.

Right Hon. Winston Churchill, home secretary, occupied a seat on the bench beside the chief justice.

When the jury retired Ethel Leneve was deadly pale, and she was given a glass of water.

After fourteen minutes the jury returned to the court. The prisoner rose and stood with eyes cast down. In reply to a question by the clerk, the foreman of the jury said: "Not Guilty."

The chief justice uttered only one word as he discharged the prisoner. The girl resumed her seat, but did not seem to realize her position until the warden touched her. Then she arose listlessly, and followed the woman out of the court.

(Canadian Associated Press)

London, Oct. 25.—The interest of the public in the Leneve case is quite as keen as in that of the Crippen trial, and standing room was not to be had at the opening of the trial.

The clothes of Belle Elmore, the victim, and a great throng of ladies crowded the public gallery.

As soon as Lord Alstone was seated, Ethel Leneve walked in, dressed in the dock, she took her position exactly as Crippen had done.

The clerk then read the charge that "knowing that Crippen had committed a felony, Ethel Leneve did feloniously receive comfort, shelter, assistance and maintain him."

In a firm tone the girl answered with eyes almost closed and hands clasped tightly together, she remained motionless, apparently oblivious of the prosecution, while Miss Leneve was defended by F. E. Smith, M.P., one of the ablest lawyers of the Conservative party.

Mrs. Leneve's defense consisted of a statement that she had never said that his wife had murdered his wife.

After referring to the fact that the prisoner had become cheerful after Feb. 2 and had said that Crippen had promised to marry her, it was understood that the wife would desert the husband and leave behind her clothes and jewelry. Crippen, according to the prisoner, had never said that his wife had murdered his wife.

Y.M.C.A. CLOCK STRUCK THIRTEEN; $37,959.25 IS AMOUNT RAISED

Scenes of Enthusiasm at Closing Luncheon at "Y" Building Last Night—Men Worked Hard Yesterday and Their Efforts Were Rewarded With Success.

FIGURES OF THE CAMPAIGN

Total Amount Collected $37,959.25
Amount Collected Yesterday $18,950

Large night the clock struck thirteen and Secretary Ward, wherever he is today, wears a huge smile and carries a high head for the Edmonton Y.M.C.A. not only reached the $30,000 mark, but shot away beyond it.

To those who followed yesterday's campaign it is evident that something was up—the air was full of false forebodings whether for good or ill—one could exactly tell. The reports that leaked out early in the day were contradictory to evening ones, and the mood was optimistic.

One could only say "We don't know about the last three thousand."

The evening supper was put off till on the subject to return and to call others to catch their victims at home and at their guard. Shortly after eight when the workers filed into the lunch room they were noticed to carry fat wads and make shy gestures to one another. Some bodies were like young bachelors on sham-battle day. Yet not a word was said on the subject to return and to call others to catch their victims at home and at their guard.

A secret man he tackled during the day wanted the Y.M.C.A. to care for the socialists and suggested a Sunday morning social. ## LOCAL BOWLERS FOR CALGARY

The Olympics and the Y. M. C. A. Play in South on Thanksgiving Day.

After the summer's rest the bowlers are getting busy again and the roar of the ball is once more heard in the Olympic alleys.

Eddie Morris has had the four alleys oiled and they are as true as the day they were laid down.

The Olympic league will be reorganized at a meeting to be held on Nov. 10, and it is expected there will be eight five-man teams entered. The individual prizes for the winning team are cases for two amber stemmed meerschaum pipes, which are well worth competing for. The wholealers and the International Harvester Co. have already signified their intention of going after the trophies, and other teams wishing to enter are requested to be at the meeting.

Individual prizes for high scores will add interest to the winter's sport. Last season Walter Blackett won Richard Secord's prize for high score for six months with the excellent total of 278.

A letter has been received from the Exchange Bowling Alleys accepting the challenge of the Olympics to play in Calgary on Thanksgiving night.

The local Y. M. C. A. will also send down a quintette to meet their southern brethren, and as both Edmonton teams include the best bowlers in the city, they should come home with some scalp hanging to their belts.

The Y. M. C. A. game is carded for the morning.

The bowlers will go down on the Rugby excursion, leaving here at midnight on Saturday.

SHER. MAGEE REGISTERS KICK

Star Batter of National League Thinks he Should Have Auto Instead of Lajoie.

Philadelphia, Oct. 25.—Sherwood Magee, the Phillies' slugger, who won the batting championship of the National League, is around with a complaint. He wishes to know why he should not get an automobile if Lajoie is to be given one. "If Cobb beats out Lajoie, then Ty is the champion," he says, "and is the winner of the automobile. There is no reason why a seven-contender in the American should be treated better than a champion in the National. But they seem to get everything in the other league, and I suppose a kick will do no good. However, it doesn't look like justice to a champion who had to work just as hard as either Ty Cobb or Larry Lajoie and who is used worse than a door."

BULL RITCIE IN CALGARY

Who do you think was on the sidelines? Guess! Why Bull Ritchie, the veteran Toronto Varsity scrimmer, who has been in the thick of rugby battles since the football season. The big scrimmer has forsaken college halls for the joys of life on the su-z-y in the west. Still he can never forget the days when he was in the game from Casey Hansen down to the late Lawrence Newton and Huggie Galt were molesters and led the team on the ground. Welcome, Bull!

It's too bad that the players should allow themselves to run away with their better judgment, and such incidents happen as did on Saturday when the players and the crowd mixed up in a general fight at the close of the game. It is largely the fault of the crowd, for they rush on the field at the first sign of any disturbance. After a hard battle the players are worked up enough to fight without any incentive from the crowd. Two policemen can do little with such a mob. It doesn't do the game any good either.—Calgary Herald.

BASEBALL IS BAD FOR SOME

Three "Fan" Stories Give Different Sides of Life—Judge Gave Score to Jury.

Here are three baseball stories, different kind of stories, of things which took place in Chicago last week. If you don't like one, take another.

Story No. 1.
August Kemp is a ball fan; Mrs. Kemp doesn't understand much less appreciate the game. He was before Municipal Judge Walker on an Englewood branch court yesterday for hitting her with a broomstick, when he says, "and is the winner of the automobile. There is no reason why a seven-contender in the American should be treated better than a champion in the National. But they seem to get everything in the other league, and I suppose a kick will do no good. However, it doesn't look like justice to a champion who had to work just as hard as either Ty Cobb or Larry Lajoie and who is used worse than a door."

Judge Kichham Scanlan feared for the mental condition of a jury trying a murder case in his court during the afternoon, and provided them with a method of hearing the score by its means while listening to why a negro was charged with murder.

But when the final score was announced, Judge Scanlan observed a number of the jury about to collapse, and fearing further proceedings would be interrupted, he ordered the court for the balance of the day.

Story No. 3.
Five alleged pickpockets working on street cars crowded with house hold baseball "fans" tonight the police when arrested. One of their number after an unsuccessful attempt to escape from the patrol wagon, bit West Harrison street; John Coyne, 20 years old, 113 South May street; David Brown, 41 years old; James Leonard, 24 years old.

All the prisoners were taken to the Central station.

CREPE PLACED ON DOOR OF THE CUBS' OFFICE

Disgraced Over Failure to Secure Reserved Seats, Fans Storm the Headquarters Seeking Return of Checks

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Disgraced Cub fans who neither received reservations for the world series games on the west side nor their checkbooks back, stormed the office of the Charles V. Murphy in the Corn Exchange National Bank building yesterday in an effort to get some satisfaction. There has been the case for several days past they found the door locked, but they had considerable amusement in gazing on the decoration found adorning the door of the Cubs' sanctum sanctorum.

Some early war, whether from anger or sympathy, had invested in a bunch of crepe which was attached to the door so securely enough to withstand an ordinary pull. Attempts on the part of other employees to remove the badge of mourning were frustrated by the fans who camped out in front of the office. After several efforts, janitors, elevator men and others connected with the building gave up the one-sided fight and left the scene of battle to the check seekers.

The men connected with the reservation of seats on the west side have been so busy, it is understood, that they have not had time to sort out the several sacks of mail containing checks sent to them for tickets, but as the case of the greater part of the work connected with the game today is over the force will get to work and return the checks to their owners.

Lajoie Returns $1,000 Check

Mails Paper Issued by Fletcher and Asks Garry Herrmann to Send it Back

Cleveland, O., Oct. 25.—Napoleon Lajoie, second baseman of the Cleveland American League team, today mailed a certified check for $1,000 made out in his favor by S. A. Fletcher of Cincinnati, promoter of the All-Star series, to August Herrmann, chairman of the national baseball commission, with a request that Herrmann return the check to the proper parties.

"I have prospered as a player in the American league and have been well treated by its officials," said Lajoie, in a note accompanying the check, "I would not wish to take part in a series against their wishes."

PEERLESS "BIG SIX"

Christy Mathewson showed in the recent series between the Giants and Highlanders, won by the McGraws that he is still far from being all in, and is in fact the star pitcher of the National League. Matty won three games off the bat, and also went in the fourth when Randall showed signs of blowing up, and saved the day.

COBB HAS THEM ALL STOPPED

Is Without Doubt the Most Valuable Man in Baseball Today.

Detroit, Oct. 25.—Ty Cobb is the most valuable player in baseball today. His eyes are causing him trouble, but with all this he would bring more than any other man playing the game.

Other clubs have tried to land Cobb. President Navin of the Detroit club has received all kinds of offers and turned them down as fast as they came.

"Would you sell Cobb?" Navin was asked the other day.
"Well, I don't know."
"How much would you sell him for?"
"If I sold him the whole club would go at the same time."

"And what would you sell the club for?"

"Several hundred thousand dollars," he heard the three-time pennant winner did not put a price on Ty Cobb. But it would be interesting to know some of the offers that have been refused for the one-time star.

One of these was made three weeks ago. It has been announced the secret of the deal, but since another deal has spoiled all future possibility of the transaction the offer can be published here.

Detroit was offered Ty Speaker, regarded as the next best player in the league; Harry Lord, whom many call the best third sacker in John Johnson's organization; and Arraelles, a good right-hand pitcher. These three players Boston was willing to turn over to Detroit in exchange for Cobb. Speaker is still with the Red Sox. Some people in Boston think him as great as Cobb.

Harry Lord with McConnell was traded to Chicago for Frank Smith and Billy Purcell a week after he was traded to Detroit with Speaker and Arraelles.

The pitcher was not wanted by any other club in the league when Boston asked Navin on him and was sent to Sacramento.

ORRIE OVERALL WILL RETIRE

From the Position of Pitcher—Says Hurley's Task is a Thankless One.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 25.—After Sunday's game between the Cubs and the Athletics, Orrie Overall, veteran one of Chicago's star pitchers for several years, announced that he had picked his last league game.

"I won't be a pitcher on the Cub team or any other club next year, and I am in earnest when I say so. I am going to quit because of anything that has happened in the past or at any time this season. I am just tired of the job and I don't want any more of it."

"The life of a big league pitcher is unsatisfactory at best. If you are good, you get along all right, and if you are not, you get along all right. But if you are bad, even for a little while, or if your arm goes back on you, you are up against it, and you can't help your self."

"I like baseball and would like to play any other position. If someone will try me as an outfielder, I either or a first baseman, I may decide to stick in the game a while longer. I think I could make good in one of these places, and I would like the opportunity of trying. But I am tired of pitching, and I will be all through with that part of it as soon as the series is at an end."

"There will be no Fletcher league or anything like that for me. Fletcher probably would not give me a job as a 'common' ball player, and I would not take a job as pitcher."

Overall's decision to quit the pitching business will come as a surprise to Chicago fans. A sore arm affected his work this season, but he was assured that it would be all right after a winter's rest. However, he is firm in his determination to quit and he says no offer will influence him to change his mind.

The big pitcher is interested in gold mines out in California, and doesn't have to depend on baseball for a living. He is one of the most popular players on the Cub team, and his mates will miss him when he is no longer among them. He will leave for his home at Visalia in a short time and he says his next visit to Chicago will be a pleasure trip and that he won't be worrying about getting into shape for another season of the past time.

SOME HERO FOR FIVE MINUTES

Chief Bender and Ira Thomas Realized That it is to be Famous.

(By W. A. Phalen.)
"It will be remembered, perhaps," remarked Chief Bender, the big Indian pitcher of the Athletics, "that I mysteriously disappeared for a little while last season, and that Ira Thomas, our star catcher, vanished with me. Many of the fans figured that we had gone on a big drunk. Others opined that we had been mysteriously jumped by our huge Connie Mack was good and plenty worried for a brief period, but when we had the chance to reappear, we went into a paroxysm of laughter, and even to this day gives us the hoot when he wants to kid us or kill a cat afternoon. For my part, I don't see anything funny about the affair, and I will leave it to you fellows to wonder there is any humor in the proceedings."

The team was shooting East after a hard struggle at Chicago, and in a few minutes at a water-tank near Logansport. While the water was being covered from the tank, I took a little stroll down the station platform, admiring the scenery and watching the natives pass by. I was, of course, gathered in large numbers to see the train go through.

The Grand Union Hotel and the hotel, a woman's screams, and the sound of shouting. Down the street, came a runaway horse, and a light buggy bounding along behind him, while a woman and a little girl were screaming in the buggy.

"Here," thought Ira and I, "is the chance of a lifetime for two brave athletes to get a reputation." And we walked out from the platform, de-grip on the quivering animal, and after Ira spoiled a perfectly good horse, we both went to the hotel and the little girl with tender words, and led the horse back towards the station, just as the train pulled out, minus one of the batteries of the Athletic hall clock.

"We were all right. We knew there was a train three hours later, and we didn't mind receiving the applause of the thousands of natives. So we assembled a column of two upon the platform, and were shaking hands with the crowd when a white-knuckled old goat with a pipette for a star, came majestically towards us.

"Well, then," said Ira, "I reckon as how I'll never look ye up. I must be going home to see the old folks, the owner of that horse, was criminally careless about his child, and even fellers like me, give evidence on the subject, and so I'll never take you to the calaboose under the case any settled."

COMING TO EDMONTON

(Winning Free Press)
In the departure of A. E. Serace for Edmonton, the winning free press to the finger tips, who took an active part in many sports. It is almost 20 years since Mr. Serace came to this city, and at cricket, lawn bowling and alley bowling particularly, he made his mark. The first sport he took up after coming to Winnipeg was cricket and that was in 1892 when there were only two clubs in the city, viz., the West End Dragons and the Winnipeg. He played for the latter, among his team mates being Chief of Police Elliott, R. C. Irving and Jimmy Smith—the latter of the two mentioned who at that time was one of the best cricketers in Canada, acting in the capacity of coach. In recent years, Mr. Serace organized and captained the St. John's cricket club, which in the two years of its existence, 1905 and 1907, won the city championship. Mr. Serace then took to lawn bowling and playing with the civil service in his first years won twelve singles and seven other prizes, being on the rink that won the McMillan cup. During the summer he did not win any prizes, but as chairman of the lawn committee of the newly-formed Assiniboine club, he did lots of work. On the alleys, too, Mr. Serace made his mark as an expert, capturing the Wanderers' team and being president of the city league for three years, 1907-1909. He was also first vice-president of the International Bowling association.

RUGBY TEAM TO BE PICKED

There Are Many Candidates for Wing Line—Will Run Large Excursion.

There will be a practice of the Edmonton Rugby club this afternoon at 5 o'clock. Also on Thursday while the final work-out will be on Saturday at 3 o'clock.

There is a large crowd of candidates for the wing and scrumming positions and as the team is to be picked today on Thursday it is the regular attendants at practice who will catch the eyes of the selection committee.

The following players are requested to be out at every practice this week: McCarthy, O'Donnell, Wilson, Grant, Crickmore, Merwyn, Vermette, Barnes, Alec Macdonald, Coomes, Starks, Scrapper McDonald, Gibson, Parsille, Bishopric, Conway, Kennedy and Roughton. Percy Hardisty will be out in uniform and give the half-backs the benefit of his spiral chasers. As Dobbie, the Tiger centre, half is a splendid punter, the local back division need a lot of practice in catching or several disasters like those of the exhibition game against Calgary Y. M. C. A. are liable to happen.

The Eskimos will suggest the name of Bill Crowley as referee but will refuse to consent to Dr. Mason or Mr. Dease acting as officials. Last year's experience of the latter still rankles.

The Grand Union Hotel and the hotel, a woman's screams, and the sound of shouting. Down the street, came a runaway horse, and a light buggy bounding along behind him, while a woman and a little girl were screaming in the buggy.

With the football team, two howling teams and a couple of hundred supporters on the excursion train, the Edmonton colors, blue and white, should be quite prevalent in Calgary on Thanksgiving Day.

The tickets, which are $3.00 for the return trip are on sale at the Cecil Hotel while reservations can be secured at the C. R. ticket office.

KING GEORGE MAY RE-OPEN WINDSOR

But Local Tradesmen Must Not Expect to Bleed the Royal Household.

COMMISSION TO SERVANTS

King Edward Closed the Castle
on That Account—Merchants
Who are Allowed the servants, all
Now Face Bankruptcy.

LONDON—After nine years' severe punishment for "bleeding" the Royal family of England financially, the borough of Windsor is trying to make the peace with King George, which King Edward so long withheld. While Queen Victoria was alive she loved Windsor, and kept Windsor open almost all the time. This meant the presence of the court, too, and much money in the pockets of the shopkeepers.

When Edward became King he was in debt and had to reduce expenses. He discovered that, by arrangements between the tradesmen and the castle servants, enormous prices were paid for the Royal supplies, and heavy commissions allowed the servants, all at the Royal expense.

Edward ordered the practice stopped, but the tradesmen refused whereupon Edward shut up the castle and the court moved away. The tradesmen are now being allowed the servants, all at the Royal expense. When Edward became King he was in debt and had to reduce expenses. He discovered that, by arrangements between the tradesmen and the castle servants, enormous prices were paid for the Royal supplies, and heavy commissions allowed the servants, all at the Royal expense.

REMOVED TISSUES OF BODY; THEY LIVE

Baltimore Surgeon Finds Success in Test On Parts of Human Organs.

A RESULT OF GERM STUDY

Progress of Disease Can Be Watched Under Experiment
Apart From Patient.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 24.—Along here conceived by himself and worked out by the skillful guidance of John Hopkins university men who are at the head of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, Dr. Alexis Carrel has made what is proclaimed to be the most important discovery of the age.

Dr. Carrel's discovery involves a method for the removal from the human body of portions of the stomach, liver, vessels, skin, bone, cartilage, and making every other tissue, and making them grow at as lively a rate as they did in the human form to which they belonged.

At the Rockefeller Institute attention has been directed for some time to the science of germ cultivation, the development of which within the last few years has been a signal triumph in medicine. Dr. Carrel, who had been cultivating germs in the form of the germ of disease some time ago, began to apply himself specifically to the growth of healthy tissues of the human system after they had been removed from the body.

He tried his experiments with tissues from the stomach, with tissue from the blood vessels, cartilage, and bone, and in the end his efforts were rewarded by success. He kept portions of human body alive as long as three weeks after they were taken from the person to whom they belonged.

The method of cultivating the living body or portions of it is similar to the cultivation of disease germs and is by the aid of culture material which in the sealed receptacles. These are of glass and the process and functions performed by the parts of the body as they are developed by artificial means, are carefully studied by the medical men.

The true study of the living tissue when in the progress of disease may be followed and a way opened out from the application of proper and effective remedies. It is believed that much can be learned which will lead to a more intelligent treatment of cancer than was possible in the light

WINNIPEG'S WATER SUPPLY

Winnipeg, Oct. 24.—The question of a visible water supply for Winnipeg will take a concrete form this evening before the city council. The city engineer, who favors the present artesian supply, has reported that the scheme for bringing water from the Winnipeg river will cost two million more than the estimates of engineers.

INSURES HIS LIFE AGAINST MURDER

Eccentric New York Millionaire
Now Carries All Kinds of Insurance Policies.

MANY FREAK POLICIES

This Man Also Carries Tornado,
Menagerie, Yacht, and Burglary Insurance.

New York—There have been many kinds of freak insurance policies written upon the result of elections, the weather, the health of pet cats, lizards, monkeys, etc., but Russell F. Hopkins' $500 policy against assassination taken out some days ago has the honor to be the first of its kind.

Mr. Hopkins is a millionaire, a beautiful home at Irvington, adjoining the estate of Helen Milner Gould. Having taken this policy, he has no doubt to explain his motive for doing so.

terpretation the jury can put on the facts is that he knew of Crippen's crime and assisted him to escape. Mrs. Martinetti was ill and was unable to appear in court. Mr. read a deposition which she had made at the preliminary hearing in Bow street. The secretary of the music hall guild reported that Leneve called on her on Feb. 2, and handed her a checkbook and the paying book of the guild usually known as the Belle Elmore.

Inspector Dew gave details of inquiries made by Belle Elmore after the disappearance of the victim. He then related the conversation which he had with the prisoner on the Montrose and her assurance that she knew nothing of the crime.

Cross-examined by Smith, Dew said he had made inquiries into the past life of the prisoner and had found that she was a typist for ten years. Her father was a canvasser in the coat business and belonged to the lower class. Crippen had told Dew that Leneve knew nothing of Belle Elmore.

Mr. Pepper repeated the evidence given at the Crippen trial, but he was not cross-examined. Dr. Wilcox also testified. Continuing of the first report will also be a feature of the new plays presented and everything will tend to give the tone of metropolitan production.

This week has opened with an especially good programme at this popular meeting place. The house is taken. It comprises two thrilling sea races, one taken off the North of France and the other taken off the coast of the United States. We are almost fed the billows and the wailing of the winds as the relentless arm of the hurricane drives the waves against the shore.

Mr. Jackson said that she was intimate with the girl who was most loved by the prisoner. The girl said that when she saw Crippen and his wife together it made her realize what her position was. The girl added, "she has been threatening to go away with another man. When she does the doctor will divorce her and marry me."

THE CONQUEST of CANAAN

By BOOTH TARKINGTON,
Author of "Cherry," "Monsieur Beaucaire," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1905, BY HARPER & BROTHERS

"Remembered what?" he faltered.

"Then you don't?" she cried. "And yet you can't?"

"Yes—now, at noon."

"Ah!" he half-whispered, unable to speak aloud. "Was it you who said—who said: 'Remember! Across—across!'"

"Across Main street bridge at noon!" she finished for him gently.

"Yes."

He took a deep breath in the wonder of it. "Where was it you said that?"

"Don't you even know that you came to meet me?"

"I came to—to meet—you!"

She gave a little plying cry, very near a sob, seeing his utter bewilderment.

"It was like the strangest dream in the world," she said. "You were at the station when I came last night. You don't remember at all?"

His eyes dropped, his face burning hotly, he could only shake his head.

"Yes," she continued. "I thought no one would be there, for I had not written to say what train I should take, but when I stepped down from the platform you were standing there, though you didn't see me at first—and until I had called your name and ran to you. You said, 'I've come to meet you,' but you said it queerly, I thought. And then you called a carriage for me. But you seemed so strange. You couldn't tell how you knew that I was coming, and—and then I—I understood you weren't yourself. You were very quiet, but I knew—I knew! So I made you get into the carriage—and—and—"

She faltered to a stop, and with that shame itself brought him courage. He turned and faced her. She had lifted her handkerchief to her eyes, but at his movement she dropped it, and it was not so much the delicate loveliness of her face that he saw then as the tears upon her cheeks.

"Ah, poor boy!" she cried. "I knew! I knew!"

"You—you took me home?"

"You told me where you lived," she answered. "Yes, I took you home."

"I don't understand," he stammered huskily. "I don't understand."

She leaned toward him slightly, looking at him with great intensity.

"You didn't know me last night," she said. "Do you know me now?"

For answer he could only stare at her, dumfounded. He lifted an unsteady hand toward her appealingly, but the manner of the lady as she saw the truth underwent an April change.

He had taken three or four uncertain backward steps from her. She sat before him, radiant with laughter, the loveliest creature he had ever seen, but between him and this charming vision there swept, through the warm, scented June air, a veil of snow like a driven fog, and half obscured in the whirl of it a young girl stood knee deep in a drift pile against an old-fashioned gate, her black waterproof and slinky skirt flapping in the blizzard like torn sails, one of her hands outstretched to ward him, her startled eyes fixed on his.

"And, oh, how like you," said the lady; "how like you and nobody else in the world, Joe, to have a yellow dog?"

"Ariel Tabor?"

His lips formed the words without sound.

"Isn't it about time?" she said. "Are strange ladies in the habit of descending from trains to take you home?"

Once upon a white morning long ago, the sensational progress of a certain youth up Main street had stirred Canaan. But that day was as nothing to this. Mr. Tabor had left temporary paralysis in his wake, but in the case of the two young people who passed slowly along the street today it was petrification, which seemingly threatened in several instances (most notably that of Mr. Arpy to become permanent.

The lower portion of the street, lined with three and four story buildings of brick and stone, rather grim and hot facades under the midday sun, afforded little shade to the church corners, who were working hardward in professional little groups and clumps, none waiting fast, though none with the appearance of great leisure, since neither rate of progress would have been esteemed belittling the day. The growth of Canaan, steady, though never startling, had left almost all of the churches dovetailed, and Main street the principal avenue of communication between them and the "residence section." So today the intermittent procession stretched along the new cement sidewalks from a little below the square to upper Main street, where the houses lined the thoroughfare and the mansions of the affluent stood among pleasant lawns and shrubberies.

"You told me where you lived," she answered.

She drew back lightly. He was favored with the most delicious low laugh he had ever heard, and by some magic which she accomplished there was no sign of tears about her.

"Ah, I'm glad you're the same, Joe!" she said. "You never would or could pretend very well. I'm glad you're the same, and I'm glad I've changed, though that isn't why you have forgotten me. You've forgotten me because you never thought of me. Perhaps I should not have known you if you had, changed a great deal."

He started, leaning back from her. "Ah," she laughed, "that's it! That funny little twist of the head you always had, like a—like a—well, you know I must have told you a thousand times that it was like a nice friendly puppy. So why shouldn't I say so now? And your eyebrows! When you look like that nobody could ever forget you, Joe."

He rose from the log, and the model leaped upon him uproariously, thinking they were to go home, belike to food.

The lady laughed again. "Don't let him spoil my parol. And I must warn you now: Never, never tread on my skirt! I'm very irritable about such things."

He had taken three or four uncertain backward steps from her. She sat before him, radiant with laughter, the loveliest creature he had ever seen, but between him and this charming vision there swept, through the warm, scented June air, a veil of snow like a driven fog, and half obscured in the whirl of it a young girl stood knee deep in a drift pile against an old-fashioned gate, her black waterproof and slinky skirt flapping in the blizzard like torn sails, one of her hands outstretched to ward him, her startled eyes fixed on his.

The Purvis Company's Big Shoe Sale

We have been rather turning things upside down in "footwear circles" during the past two weeks. We want to sell all Edmonton its Shoes, and if all Edmonton agrees we can save all Edmonton money. Because we are cleaning out our entire Shoe Stock—going out of the Shoe business altogether, prices have grown very, very small, while the qualities are the product of the leading Canadian Shoe Manufacturers.

That's our argument for Wednesday and all this week, when we offer all the Men's Women's and Children's Shoes at Tremendous Reductions.
